

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This chapter presents the conclusion about the implementation of andragogy approach and students' responses when learning activity by using andragogy approach and suggestions from the research.

A. Conclusion

Based on the result of the analysis in previous chapter. the researcher concluded that the students' progress during teaching and learning activity by using andragogy approach is running well.

Firstly, the observation conducted in one meeting. The teacher implemented three of four assumptions of andragogy and used appropriate media (worksheet). The result of classroom observation show that teacher implemented fifteen from seventeen activity in observation checklist. It can be average 88%. Related to the percentage results in the application of the andragogy approach it can get the result that the learning process carried out in the classroom has been going well.

Secondly, analysis of the response of students with the number of 30 respondents and 20 items of questionnaires (10 items are positive statements and 10 items are negative statements) got an average response score of 82,4% in strong category. It can be interpreted that students have a good reaction to learning by using andragogy approach. Students can easy to understand the materials which related with experiences and real life, they also can enrich the inspirations from any kind of sources to make them write easily. Teaching by using andragogy approach can motivate the students to be more active and creative in teaching and learning process. It can get the result that students have a good response in writing activity by using andragogy approach.

B. Suggestion

In this chapter, the researcher also would like to propose some suggestions that hopefully would be used for English teaching learning.

1. For the teacher; the teacher needs to apply the various media to implement andragogy approach. Because the media only worksheet it may be use power point text or fokusky in the next meeting.
2. For the students; the students need interest in the media which can built their enthusiasm in learning activity.
3. For the further researcher; the result of the study can be used as additional reference to other research with the different sample and occasions.
